CALA PORTALS VELLS

Portals Vells is a small, sandy cove beach on the southwest of the island, considered to be one of the top 20 beaches on Mallorca. Its only 9 miles away from Palma. Portals Vells beach is peaceful and calm, popular with locals as there are generally lesser crowds here due to its small size. Tourists, particularly German and British, and families also appreciate the beauty of this beach, its calm waters, and excellent snorkelling and diving conditions. The beach, which is on the edge of the large bay of Palma, is only 30 metres long and about 20 metres wide.

Recommendations in the surroundings

Es Repòs is a well known restaurant at the beach serving great food, fresh fish and Mallorcan dishes and tapas with a great beach fare. On Playa del Rei you can find a beach bar with sandwiches, snacks, drinks and ice cream in addition.

CALA BLANCA

Cala Blanca Beach is around 20 miles far from Palma. It is a small beach of boulders and rocks in a natural inlet between cliffs on the west coast of Mallorca. In spite of its easy access it is a little frequented beach.

The Cala Blanca Beach is a beach of crystal clear water with rocky bottom and some areas of sand. It is a beach well protected from the waves, only winds from the southeast produce waves. It is located in a mountainous area surrounded by cliffs. In the surroundings of the beach predominates the low forest mainly formed by pines and bushes.

From the beach of Cala Blanca in the distance you can see the tourist residential area of Camp de Mar that is only 3 km away by road. There is no beach bar, the closest bars are in the towns of Puerto de Andratx and Camp de Mar at 3 km. If you wish to enlarge your stayover at that precious beach, the closest bars are in the towns of Puerto de Andratx and Camp de Mar at 3 km.

CALA PI

Cala Pi is a beautiful sandy beach in the middle of nature. It is located in the municipality of Lluçmajor, not far from Sa Rapita and the well-known beach of Es Trenc. It is 21 miles far from Palma Port.

The beach of Cala Pi is at the mouth of a torrent, the sea penetrates naturally forming a very sheltered cove so there is very little surf on this beach.

The sand is present both at the bottom of the sea and on the shore of the beach. On the seabed in addition to sand there are also some areas with rocks so the sea has different shades of blue. Although the beach is located in the tourist area of Cala Pi with some hotels and residential homes, buildings can't be seen from the beach itself. Near the beach it is easy to find restaurants or small businesses.

MALGRATS ISLANDS TOUR

Las Malgrats Islands are a beautiful and unique set of small islands located off the southwestern coast of Mallorca. They are around 17 miles far from Palma. These uninhabited islands, actually a marine reserve, offer a stunning natural setting, with crystal-clear waters, pristine beaches, and unique rock formations. Whether you're looking for a peaceful spot to relax, or an exciting underwater adventure, Las Malgrats Islands are definitely worth a visit. Las Malgrats Islands do not have any beach amenities as they are uninhabited and not accessible to the public. The islands are a protected natural area, with restrictions on visiting and exploring the area. However, Las Malgrats Islands offer a unique and stunning natural setting, with crystal-clear waters, pristine beaches, and unique rock formations. The area is popular among scuba divers and snorkelers, as the waters around Las Malgrats are teeming with marine life, including colorful fish and even dolphins. While there may not be any beach amenities, the natural beauty and biodiversity of Las Malgrats Islands make it a must-visit destination for those who love nature and adventure. Book the tour and let us bring an awesome menu and a luxurious catering for you and your guests with it.

CALA DE EGOS

CALA DE EGOS

Cala d'Egos beach is located on the rugged coast of the municipality of Andratx. It is around 25 miles far from Palma. It is a virgin beach with small boulders. This beautiful beach is located in a natural inlet of the coast of Andratx. It is a relaxing beach because of its difficult access from the land.

Usually during the summer it is a beach with calm waters since it is well protected from the waves. Access to water is with a gentle slope and its seabed is sand, gravel and rocky areas.

The environment where the beach is located is mountain landscape where bushes and pine trees predominate. The beach is at the mouth of a torrent.

There are no bars and restaurants on this beach. So the closest restaurants are in Port Andratx.

Reminiscent of Mallorca, pre-tourism boom, Cabrera feels a world away. As a protected national park, there is an abundance of birds, marine life, and flora and fauna. During your stay, you may catch a glimpse of cormorants, falcons, ospreys, or dolphins, among much other wildlife. Apart from its animal inhabitants, Cabrera has been home to a military base where thousands of captive soldiers stayed imprisoned during the Napoleonic wars. Dig into the history of the island by touring the Castle of Cabrera or the 19th-century lighthouse, L'Enciola, which are both accessible by foot and provide a nice hike.
